Superintendent

November 5, 2020

Russell Family,

Most of you are probably aware that the state COVID-19 incidence rate map shows Greenup County in the red due to a significant increase in cases within our community over the past few days. The state recommended decision-making matrix for school districts indicates that we should look at the state incidence rate map on Thursday evenings and then, if in red, return to virtual instruction for the following week.

Greenup County, including today, has been in the red four out of the last six days. Our community is clearly experiencing a surge of COVID-19. For this reason, beginning tomorrow (Friday, November 6th) we will return to our Virtual Model of Instruction for all students. As of right now, on Monday, November 16, 2020 we will resume Face to Face Instruction.

It is going to take our whole community working together to mitigate the spread of this virus. Please continue to follow public health guidelines including wearing a facial covering, frequent hand washing and maintaining appropriate social distancing.

Sincerely,

Dr. M. Sean Horne,
Superintendent
